To the Sweetest Surprise we had, With great honor, we found Tweet abandoned in a Storage Lot and miraculously we gathered him and nursed him back to health after being on hot cement. For three weeks, night and day he was loved so much, in that short amount of time he had warm hugs, his belly fed and a cozy bed. We thought we were out of the woods with Fading Kitten Syndrome. He will always be in our family forever now We Love You So Much Tweet
